

Press Release from Save Gillies Hill

ptpaterson@hotmail.co.uk

The campaign to Save Gillies Hill offers its supporters a new experience on Saturday week (28 July): after all the leaflet-dropping, sponsored walking, round-the-doors petitioning, march of the original gillies re-enacting, Scottish Parliament petition submitting, and many other strenuous and stressful experiences, they can relax and listen to some music in the park.

That's King George V Park, better known to locals as the Public Park, or the Swing Park. It certainly should swing to the music of – amongst others - the, Ted Christopher, and, most appropriately, the Gillies Hillbillies.

SGH member Davey Mcfarlane said: “Save Gillies Hill in the Park is, of course a fund-raiser – campaigns like ours cost money – but it's also a chance for everyone who's been working so hard these past six months to take a short breather before redoubling our efforts to save the Hill.”

Nevertheless, SGH campaigners will also use the occasion to continue to gather signatures for the petition, and t-shirts and other SGH merchandise will be available.

Full details of Save Gillies Hill in the Park will be announced next week.
