The campaign to save Gillies Hill has aroused considerable feelings in the Stirling community: many are once again gearing themselves up for the 22 June which sees the second re-enactment of the descent of the Gillies from the Hill onto the Field of Bannockburn, honouring their illustrious forebears of 1314, but also emphasising the commitment of supporters to preserve the historic and environmentally vital landscape.

But now the campaign has fired the musical imagination of local band Konrad whose CD Ancient Heart: the Gillies Hill Sessions is released at a special launch concert in Cambusbarron Community Centre on Thursday 5th June – with all proceeds going to campaign funds.

SGH Chairperson Susan McGill said: “We’re delighted by this gesture: not only is the music first-class, but Konrad is assigning all proceeds to the cause – as well as performing free at the launch.”

Come along on the 5th and ensure you get a copy of what is certain to become a collector’s album.
